

日頃の備え

A watercolor illustration depicting a disaster scene. In the background, a lush green mountain range is visible under a grey, overcast sky. A landslide of brown earth and rocks has occurred, partially burying a traditional Japanese house with a tiled roof. In the foreground, three people are shown with expressions of worry and concern. A woman with long dark hair, wearing a blue top, is the central figure. To her left, a young boy in a yellow shirt and a young girl in a blue shirt are also looking towards the viewer with anxious expressions. The overall style is soft and illustrative, typical of children's educational materials.
